PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Ordinance Making Liquor License Tax $400 Per Annum Adopted---Treasurer Given Leave of Absence.

The city board of trustees met in regular session in the city hall last Monday night.

A communication was received from Stephen Parr surrendering his liquor license permit to run a saloon in the Merriam block, to be granted to Elie Allen and who made application for it.

Both the communication and application were laid over until next meeting to be acted upon, as the liquor ordinance provides that communications of that character must be filed at least five days before a regular meeting which was not done.

Treasurer C. L. Kauffmann asked for a leave of absence on account of ill health.

He was granted ninety days and given authority to appoint a deputy to perform the duties of his office during his absence.

Under the heading of city officers reports, City Clerk Smith presented the following financial statement:

Cash on hand October 1, 1912, $92.63. Receipts during October—Liquor licenses, $753.75; special liquor permits, $7.50; city taxes, $964.06; peddlers' licenses, $20; recorder's court, $25; redemption of taxes, $4.88; interest on deposits, 50 cents. Total, $1868.32. Expenditures, as per warrants drawn, $1761.94. Cash on hand Nov. 1, 1912, $106.38.

The treasurer and marshal's reports were the same as the clerk's.

Superintendent of Streets Kneese reported the grading on San Bruno road in the northern part of town had been finished. President Cunningham was authorized to make arrangements to have the road rocked.

The improvement of Division street by macadamizing, between Grand and Armour avenues, and Armour avenue, between San Bruno road and Division street, was discussed by the members of the board and may be ordered at the next meeting.

An ordinance providing that Class A liquor licenses for saloon keepers shall be $400 per annum, and that Class B licenses for restaurants shall be $75 per annum after January 1st next, was adopted.

Trustee Holston introduced an ordinance providing for license taxes for shows in tents, or any enclosure without covering, shooting galleries, doll racks, merry-go-rounds, astrologers, clairvoyants, etc.

The ordinance was laid over to come up for adoption at the next regular meeting.

paign for lower transportation rates on the Peninsula, believing that the rates now obtainable will prove a material saving to the people of the county, and be it further

"Resolved that this resolution be spread on the minutes of the board and that a copy of said resolution be forwarded by the clerk of said board to the development association."

ROOSEVELT MAY CARRY CALIFORNIA

Saturday morning—With seventy precincts to hear from, the vote of California on president is as follows:

Roosevelt, 281,369.

Wilson, 280,618.

Roosevelt's plurality, 751.

These totals were compiled from corrected returns received from the county seats of all but eight counties, as officially given out, and from authenticated figures from these eight counties. The seventy-nine precincts remaining unreported are in remote regions. It is probable that the vote of many of them will not be known before the official canvass.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF

City Clerk Smith is having concrete steps and retaining wall built in front of his property on Grand avenue.

Mrs. J. O. Snyder and daughter Ruth leave on the steamship Harvard to-day for a visit in Los Angeles.

The Thursday evening whist club was entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Woodman this week.

The local fire company will hold a meeting in the city hall next Wednesday night. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

Special services at the Methodist Church for three days next week. A San Francisco pastor will preach on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Next Saturday night the South City baseball club will give a ball in Metropolitan Hall. Good music has been engaged. Admission, gents 50 cents, ladies 25 cents.

Died—In this city Nov. 4th, Mrs. Pierre Lauchere, mother of Mrs. Ernest Palany and Herman Lauchere. The funeral took place from her late residence in this city last Thursday. Interment in Holy Cross cemetery.

J. F. C. Ludemann, father of Fred Ludemann of Millbrae, well known in this city, died in San Francisco on October 31st. He was 79 years of age. The funeral took place in San Francisco last Saturday afternoon. Interment at Mount Olivet cemetery.

David E. Barre, a resident of Belmont for the past sixty years, and 82 years of age, grandfather of Mrs. A. Hynding of this city, died at Belmont on October 31st. The funeral took place from the family residence in Belmont last Sunday. Interment in Woodlawn cemetery.

There is a great demand in this city for four and five room bungalows that will rent for $12 and $15 a month. Many applications have been made to real estate men for those kind of houses, but they are unable to fill them. Here is a chance for somebody to buy some land and build some comfortable houses located conveniently to the factory district where the employment of workers is increasing right along. When the new Enterprise foundry and the Schaw-Batcher pipe works open up for operation, the demand for houses will be still greater.

REALTY TRANSFERS.

FREE PIANO CONTEST NOMINATIONS HAVE CLOSED

Now Up to Candidates and Their Friends to Get Busy and Win a Beautiful $350 Piano.

Nominations for candidates to enter the $350 piano contest conducted by The Enterprise in conjunction with the South City Lumber and Supply Co., J. Carmody, South City Pharmacy and W. C. Schneider, have closed and it is now up to the candidates themselves and their friends to get busy and try to win the new $350 Lyon-Taylor piano on exhibition at the South City Pharmacy.

The Enterprise will give 1000 votes for each $2 cash yearly subscription brought to this office, and the merchants associated in the contest will give votes away in proportion to the amount of business brought to them.

Several bright young women of this city and San Bruno have been nominated, and a town rivalry has already commenced that is apt to become very interesting before the contest closes.

They all have many friends, who will vie with each other in obtaining the most votes for their favorites. The candidate receiving the greatest number of votes up to 4 p. m. on Saturday, February 22, 1913, will be given a new $350 Lyon-Taylor piano. The second, a $260 due bill to apply on another $350 Lyon-Taylor piano; third, $250 due bill on same; fourth, a $240 due bill on same; fifth, a $230 due bill on same.

Following are the names of young women of this city who have been nominated and entitled to 1000 votes each:

These candidates can obtain full information in reference to this contest at this office. See advertisement on fifth page of this issue.

Following are the rules of the contest:

1. The five prizes offered by The Enterprise in conjunction with the South City Lumber and Supply Co., J. Carmody, South City Pharmacy and W. C. Schneider, will be given to the five candidates who have received the greatest number of votes by 4 p. m., Saturday, February 22, 1913, at which time the contest shall be declared officially closed and all votes received thereafter void.

2. The ballot box will be opened every Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock and then relocked by a committee of three ladies selected for the purpose by the candidates. The result of each week's count will be published in The Enterprise on the following Saturday, the candidates' names and standing to appear.

3. Voting coupons may be cast by anyone, provided they are obtained from any of the following sources: Coupons given out by The Enterprise, South City Lumber and Supply Co., J. Carmody, South City Pharmacy and W. C. Schneider. All others shall be declared void and thrown out by the committee.

4. No employee of any of the establishments conducting this contest will be permitted to be a candidate.

5. All votes must be deposited in the ballot box located in The Enterprise office and in the presence of the contest manager or some one appointed by him. In casting a number of votes at the same time they must be neatly tied together or placed in a small envelope. Votes may be cast personally or by mail.

Address all correspondence regarding the contest to "The Contest Manager," The Enterprise, South San Francisco, Cal.

PROCEEDINGS OF SUPERVISORS

The county board of supervisors met in regular session at Redwood City last Monday.

Communications were received from the city clerks of Redwood City, South San Francisco, Hillsborough, and Daly City to the effect that the city councils of those cities had voted to permit the board of supervisors to construct such portions of the state highway as were within their incorporated limits.

The communications were accepted and filed.

For the information of the board Manager Fuller of the County Development Association stated that the State Highway Commission had given its decision, through the Attorney General, that it would not build any portion of the state highway through the incorporated cities. The board expected to do this work out of the proposed bond issue.

County Surveyor Neuman reported that he was making progress in getting options on rights of way for the county roads in the event of the success of the bond election.

Charles M. Morse presented the following resolution which was adopted on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Blackburn:

"Resolved, That the board of supervisors of San Mateo county in regular session this 4th day of November, 1912, does hereby express its earnest and deep appreciation of the results recently obtained by the San Mateo County Development Association in its cam-

WOODROW WILSON.

THOMAS RILEY MARSHALL.

STATE DEMOCRATIC BY AT LEAST 5000

Next Legislature, However, Will Be Controlled by Republicans

With the returns from 3,791 precincts out of a total of 4,372 in California, President-Elect Wilson Thursday morning has a plurality of 4,973 over Roosevelt.

The exact figures were:
Wilson 258,414
Roosevelt 253,441

This tabulation still leaves 581 precincts to be heard from. If the ratio of the returns is maintained, Wilson will carry California by a comfortable margin.

The Progressive leaders have virtually abandoned their claims that Roosevelt would carry the State, pointing out that he would have to gain nine votes a precinct to do this.

Should he carry California, Wilson will win the State over to the Democratic party for the fifth time since the raising of the Bear flag in 1846.

With a normal Republican majority of 80,000, such a victory of the Wilson ticket must be considered overwhelming.

For years the State has been regarded as one of the Republican strongholds of the country. Roosevelt carried it in 1904 with a plurality of 115,000, and Taft had nearly 100,000 plurality four years ago.

The last time the State went Democratic was when the Cleveland electors were victorious in 1892. Prior to that time it went Democratic in 1852, 1856 and 1880.

Wilson's victory will be all the more decisive this year because the State has been regarded, since the election of Governor Johnson to be the rock-ribbed Gibraltar of the Republican Progressives.

In carrying it Wilson will give Governor Johnson the first serious setback of his political career.

Wilson made surprising inroads on supposed Progressive strongholds in nearly every county from Siskiyou to San Diego.

In San Francisco the Democrats received nearly half of the total 105,232 votes polled. Wilson received 49,021 against 38,624 votes for Roosevelt, his plurality being 10,397.

Los Angeles was supposed to be one of the hotbeds of the Progressives, but Roosevelt's plurality over Wilson there was comparatively small. Returns from 677 out of 727 precincts in Los Angeles show Roosevelt to have received 64,683 votes against 50,342 polled for Wilson.

Alameda county also proved a disappointment to the Roosevelt supporters. Complete returns have been received from all but nine precincts in the county. These show that Roosevelt received 29,983 votes against 23,704 for Wilson. Roosevelt's plurality, according to these figures, will be a little over 6,000.

Wilson has carried San Mateo county by a small margin, the returns at hand giving him 3,043 votes against 2,713 for Roosevelt.

Returns are not complete in many of the distant counties, but they show that the Wilson enthusiasm was in evidence on Tuesday.

In Humboldt county twenty-one out of sixty-nine precincts give Roosevelt 989 votes, against 740 for Wilson.

Sacramento county gives Wilson a plurality over Roosevelt of 2,633. Wilson got 9,905 out of the 19,253 votes cast for the presidential electors in Sacramento, which is the home county of Governor Johnson.

Complete returns from San Joaquin county give Roosevelt 9,304 votes against 7,959 for Wilson. It was generally conceded by the political prophets that Roosevelt would carry San Joaquin.

The returns from Santa Clara county give Roosevelt 10,303 votes against 9,176 for Wilson.

The available returns from the fifty-eight counties in the State showed Wilson to be leading in Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, El Dorado, Fresno, Glenn, Inyo, Kern, Kings, Lake, Madera, Marin, Mendocino, Merced, Modoc, Monterey, Napa, Nevada, Plumas, Sacramento, San Benito, San Diego, San Francisco, San Mateo, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Solano, Sonoma, Stanislaus, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Tulare, Tuolumne, Ventura, Yolo and Yuba.

Roosevelt polled his largest vote in Alameda, Los Angeles and Santa Clara counties.

Thursday morning no returns had been received from Alpine, Mariposa, Mono and Sutter counties. Alpine cast 75 votes for Taft in 1908, Mariposa 352, Mono 224 and Sutter 896. The political complexion of these small unheard from counties is unknown, and while the total vote to come from them is comparatively small, it may eventually swing the election to either of the contending candidates.

The Wilson men say, however, that there is no consistent reason why the Democratic candidate should not maintain the lead he has throughout the State.

The Socialist vote was heavy in many counties. It was heaviest in Los Angeles, where 16,347 votes were polled for Debs. San Francisco came next, with 12,415 votes. In Alameda county 8,666 Socialist votes were cast. Colusa, Glenn, San Bernardino, San Diego, Sacramento, Trinity and Tulare also polled comparatively large Socialist votes.

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

Owing to the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, South San Francisco will soon have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, the Pacific Coast Steel Company, the Pacific Car and Equipment Company, the Standard Corrugated Pipe Works, and other enterprises, all of which are in operation to-day. The Meese Gottfried Machinery Company and the Enterprise Foundry of San Francisco have each recently made purchases of land, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1912

We can never hope to have all our roads surfaced with hard material; such a step would not only require more money than we can afford to spend but would be unnecessary. For about 20 per cent of the roads of any district carry about 90 per cent of the traffic. If then we could construct the 20 per cent of important roads as rapidly as funds would permit and maintain all roads by the patrol system, every requirement would be met. And this is not a financial idea. There are few counties in this country where the patrol system of maintenance could not be adopted at the recent annual expenditure and give vastly better results. The Office of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture is willing at all times to demonstrate this fact to any reasonable number of counties for the asking.—Logan Waller Page.

The enthusiasm of good roads is now widespread among all classes of society. The farmer knows that they will decrease his cost of transportation, increase the value of his farm and add much to the comfort of the convenience of his home. His wife and family can reach the church, the school and their neighbors at all times, and in consequence will be content to remain on the farm. The residents of the city realize that improved roads will give him a better and more uniform supply of farm products, open up to him a formerly closed pleasure ground, and will lead to a closer relation between town and farm and to a greater business activity everywhere. In short the whole country is awake.—Logan Waller Page.

During a storm recently the steamer Cecilia, which plied between Montreal and Valleyfield, was hurled on the rocks and sank at Isle Perrot, in Lake St. Louis, ten miles west of Montreal. At least sixteen people were drowned, the lost comprising men, women and children. Only four passengers were saved, all men. The cries of the people in the water attracted the attention of Alexander Leonard, a farmer, who put out in a small boat and picked up the four clinging to the wreckage.

Captain Asher Carter Baker, U. S. N., retired, will be the Director of Exhibits of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. He was selected for this most important position by President Charles C. Moore and his selection has received the unanimous approval of the Board of Directors.

BIG GOOSE STEW AT SACRAMENTO

This office has received the following communication:

The sportsmen of Sacramento city and county, assisted by the California Fish and Game Commission, are preparing the biggest goose stew in history. The date is November 24th and the place is the state agricultural grounds at Sacramento. As guests upon this occasion, the Sacramento county sportsmen desire to have the largest possible number of the leading followers of the rod and gun throughout the state.

In addition to the greatest feed that a sportsman ever sat down to, there will be many other things "doing" which will contribute to make the entire day one of intense enjoyment and one to be long remembered.

Some of these things are: Blue rock shooting, horse racing, a mule race with the leading citizens as jockeys, splendid band music and boxing contests with a thrill in every moment.

The Chamber of Commerce of Sacramento has been given the privilege of requesting the chambers of commerce through the state to issue invitations to the leading sportsmen and citizens of their communities to be among the guests upon this occasion.

If, therefore, you will kindly prepare a list of those who are certain to come, and forward it to me not later than November 18th, the formal invitations will be sent out together with the required number of tickets for distribution with the compliments of the Sacramento county sportsmen.

Yours very truly,
S. Glen Andrus,
Secretary-Manager Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

WANTED A REAL LAWN.

So He Had It Planted With Real Grass Seed and Got a Surprise.

"Tad" Dorgan, the cartoonist, is blessed by the friendship of many irresponsible. Last spring Dorgan began to pay taxes on an eligible sea front property at Bayside, L. I. The irresponsible hurried down to spend a few week ends with him as soon as they heard about it. They were pained to notice that the lawn was absolutely grassless. They spoke about it to "Tad." "I had all the grass taken away," said that young man. "I'm going to have some real grass seed sown so that I'll have a lawn people will come miles to see."

The irresponsible accompanied him to town and helped him buy the grass seed. Between times they slipped in a few packages of beet seed, onion seed and other spring vegetables. When Dorgan offered that package of seed to his gardener the worthy Celt was horrified. He tried to tell his employer that something had gone wrong.

"Nix on that conversation, Patrick," said Mr. Dorgan. "That seed is all right, because I bought it. I didn't hire you for your gifts or repartee or because you have a bunch of theories about lawns. When I want some instructions about grass seed I'll hire a professor. Now go to it and sow that seed."

So the gardener went to it, and two weeks later, when Mr. Dorgan paid another visit to his summer home, he found a Waldorf salad growing in his front yard. Here and there sunflowers were sprouting and cabbages were starting, and three or four green shoots the gardener said were beech trees were well under way. The irresponsible came down to see how "Tad" took it. He seemed well pleased.

"But I had to fire that gardener," said he. "He went around pulling up some of the finest young radishes you ever saw and throwing 'em away. I won't let any one blue pencil my lawn."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

After donning men's clothing and walking from Dixon to Woodland at night, Mrs. Belle Van Sant, sister of J. V. Cross of Dixon, and who is subject to somnambulism, was awakened in a tangle of parlor by a constable at 10 o'clock.

Halloween Fortunes Told by the Lucky Candle Game.

There are many time honored ways of peeping into the future on Halloween, such as paring apples, roasting chestnuts, the apple seed game and many more, too numerous to mention. All are supposed to foretell with more or less accuracy what the future holds in store for the players. Perhaps the lucky candle game is as good a fortune teller as any other.

For this game provide a large tub of water and small candles for those who wish to try their luck. The candles are mounted on bits of wood by means of a pin or thin nail driven through it. Each player then launches his little boat, and the candles are all lighted as quickly as possible. The owner of the candle that burns the longest will be the luckiest guest of the party. The good luck is supposed to remain with the fortunate winner for the ensuing year.

The Game of Gossip.

The game of gossip is played thus: One of the company invents and writes down a short, striking narrative, say in about a dozen lines. This he reads to himself carefully and then folds away out of sight. Taking the person on his left side, he repeats to him as accurately as he can what he has written.

Number two repeats this to number three, and so it passes round till it reaches the last player. The last person recites the story, and it is then compared with the original record. It is never the same, and the variations are generally very amusing.

Thus one end of a row gave:
"All over Dublin homes it is written eloquently cross the American Atlantic monthly because a suffering freedman is about to take the life of Snobbs, who has given permission and a fortune of $50,000."

While the original document was:
"Oliver Wendell Holmes, who has written so eloquently in the American Atlantic Monthly for the cause of the suffering freedmen, is about to relate the life of Snobbs, who has a commission and a fortune of $15,000."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Three Glasses.

Take three glasses, one of which shall contain clear water, one soapy water, the other nothing. Blindfold one of the party and lead him or her to the table on which the glasses are arranged. With the left forefinger she or he tries to dip into one of the glasses. Should it be the empty dish she will remain single; if into soapy water, she will marry a widower; if into clean water, her husband will be young and handsome.

Alphabet Pumpkin.

In a doorway hang a pumpkin on whose fat, yellow sides you have previously burned the outlines of all the letters of the alphabet with a hot poker.

While some one keeps the pumpkin rapidly twirling let all the guests take turns hurling long meat skewers at the pumpkin. Whoever succeeds in stabbing a letter may be assured that that letter will be the initial of his fate.

Genuine Loveliness.

Being pretty does not necessarily hinder a woman from being intellectual. If she is clever enough to be beautiful she should be smart enough to be intellectual.

The girl who is plain is plain because she does not know how to be otherwise. Beautifying of one kind brings along beauty of another kind. The girl who cultivates a sweet, smiling face finds it so attractive that she trains her heart to match it.

LABOR SAVING DEVICE.

The Vacuum Washer
Aid to Housewives.

NEW VACUUM WASHER.

No more rubbing of soiled clothes on a washboard now that the housewife has this new vacuum washer, which, placed in the boiler of steaming clothes, keeps the garments whisking around in the hot suds until they are almost entirely clean.

Out of the boiler the clothes are required only to be rinsed once or twice and hung out to dry.

The hat pictured here is made of dark blue satin over a sailor frame and is trimmed with a band of blue and white striped ribbon and a white fox brush. Simple as the hat looks, it cost $100, being an individual creation from the hands of a famous French milliner.

The Cameo Pose.

It seems a rather blunt thing to say that no woman without a little affectation takes a good photograph—unless, of course, she is a beauty; but the statement is true, none the less. The perfectly natural downright woman rarely photographs well. Unable to assume an expression she does not actually feel, she takes a position as stiff and uncomfortable as she really is before the fearsome eye of the camera, and her photograph lacks the charm and the grace of her own really charming and graceful personality, always evident when she is at her ease and not self-conscious.

The natural born coquette, on the other hand, is practiced in expressing things she does not feel by tricks of gesture, by head movement, by a sweep of the lashes, a raising of the eyes, and so on. "Look pleased!" adorns the photographer, and she can do it in a minute—just as she can look demure, or coy, or soulful, or anything else as expediency requires. Naturally, she takes a charming photograph, often without possessing half the beauty of the woman who does not know how to pose before the camera.

Result of the Election in County Last Tuesday

Last Tuesday, Wilson and Marshall, democratic candidates for president and vice-president of the United States, carried San Mateo county, owing to the fact that several hundred Taft Republicans voted the democratic ticket.

E. A. Hayes was re-elected congressman to represent the new eighth district.

Wm. R. Flint, republican candidate for state senator to represent the eleventh senatorial district, of which this county is part, was elected.

Henry Ward Brown, republican candidate for assemblyman to represent this county, was elected.

For supervisors, Jas. T. Casey, democrat, was elected in this (the first) township, and John MacBain, republican, in the third, and Joseph Francis, who had both democratic and republican nominations in the fourth, were elected.

The vote for supervisor in the first township, as reported at Redwood City, is as follows:

the war of 1812, and while talking about the chances Carden said to Decatur, "If you and I ever meet after hostilities are declared I'll bet you a silk hat that the Macedonia will capture the United States." "I'll bet you a silk hat you don't," was the reply. The two frigates met on Oct. 15, 1812, and after a bloody fight the English flag was lowered. Decatur hastened on board the prize, and Carden tendered his sword. "— your sword, Carden!" said Decatur. "I bet you a silk hat, and as we're a long way from a hatter I'll take the one you wear." The hat was given.

THIS SECTION MAY BECOME FAMOUS

George W. Mull, a prominent lawyer of Indianapolis and a well-known motorist who has toured through Europe by automobile and has just arrived at San Francisco after a journey from Los Angeles by motor, is enthusiastic about the stretch of road from San Mateo leading to Half Moon Bay. This road, with the exception of the part approaching Half Moon Bay, is one of the best he has ever seen and equal to the roads of the south which have attracted thousands of motorists. Mull states that with a continuous highway through the county equal to this Crystal Springs road, this section would become famous among auto tourists.

"The stretch of road leading from San Mateo to Crystal Springs reservoir, both as to roadbed and scenic features, is equal if not superior to the roads in the southern part of California which have done so much to develop that country," said Mull. "If the projected plan of roads under the bond issue is carried out and you can show the motorists a continuous highway that approaches this bit of road, it will mean the making of San Mateo county.

"This stretch, with the scenery along the way, is simply delightful and equal to some of the great scenic roads of Europe which attract motorists from all over the world to see. If you can build a traversable road along the shore of the Pacific you will have an attraction for motor travelers that will be without rival even along the Mediterranean. This will mean the starting up of a tourist travel that will immediately open up and develop the entire county. Villas will spring up as they have in modern times since the advent of the motor, along the Mediterranean shores and wealthy people will make their homes for winter there.

"This climate I consider ideal for winter. Others might prefer the warm south, but I personally like the cool nights with the tang of the ocean air. This whole county, and particularly such parts of it as are swept by the ocean breezes, is a winter health resort without peer in Europe, and with proper roads here to bring motor travel it would be the serious rival of the great European winter resorts.

"But on the whole the roads leading to San Francisco through this county are so bad as to be actually untraversable in spots. It was a surprise to me that the only approach to San Francisco by road should be in such a bay way. It should be the duty of San Franciscans to help to put this bond issue for their sakes. You must have roads here by the time of the Exposition or you will lose an opportunity that will actually mean millions to the county."

President Moore has just received word from a representative in Washington, D. C., that "Mexican newspapers report that Mexico's Exposition Building will be a permanent gift as evidence of Mexican friendship. The building will be fashioned after the Palace of Ayuntamiento and School of Mines in Mexico City, and is described as an "Architectural Jewel of Colonial Epoch."

TWO OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS CARRY

Free Text Books and Irrigation Bonds Popular in All Sections

Tabulation of the incomplete returns from the statewide voting on eight constitutional amendments and laws showed Thursday morning that six probably had been defeated, free text-books and irrigation bonds being the only propositions which were accepted. The so-called consolidation amendment, by which San Francisco hoped to be able to expand beyond the rigid limits of her half-century-old county line, received a much higher vote in Alameda county than had been expected, but was beaten by the interior counties. The measure to establish a free text-book system in the public schools of California, and the amendment providing for making irrigation bonds security for public moneys, alone escaped the general rejection of amendment proposals. According to exponents of the irrigation bond measure, millions of acres of arid lands within the State will be made fertile by the operation of this amendment. It carried by a three to one vote. The "race track" amendment was smashed by the popular vote. The people also decided in decisive fashion against the "county home rule in taxation" proposal. Scattering returns from all over the State indicate that every city and county except San Francisco and Los Angeles rolled up a majority against it. The measure was probably beaten by 26,000.

With no returns available from twenty-six outlying counties, the vote on free text-books stood, Thursday morning, 175,348 for and 97,613 against the measure. On the race track measure the vote, with twenty-four counties missing, was 94,979 for and 175,930 against.

On irrigation bonds the vote, with twenty-six counties missing, was 168,406 for and 63,803 against. The vote on county home rule in taxation, twenty-six counties missing, stood 81,474 for and 107,891 against.

The vote on consolidation of cities, twenty-four counties missing, was 120,253 for and 129,582 against.

With twenty-six counties missing, the following figures indicate the fate of the amendments regarding registrars:

Providing for the appointment of a registrar of voters: Yes, 65,925; no, 118,879.

Fixing salaries and fees of registrars: Yes, 63,886; no, 118,618.

Designating registrars: Yes, 68,570; no, 114,064.

COMPLEXION OF NEW CONGRESS.

Late returns increase the Democratic majority in the Sixty-third (new) Congress. Following are the latest figures:

House of Representatives—
Democrats	290
Republicans	114
Progressives	12
Doubtful or unreported	25
Total	435

The foregoing showed the standing at midnight last night. The total of 284 gave the Democrats 72 more than the 218 necessary for a majority and 62 more than the Democratic membership in the Sixty-second Congress.

LATE RETURNS ONLY SWELL WILSON'S VOTE

Will Have Over 400 Votes in Electoral College

The latest returns from Tuesday's election indicate that Wilson and Marshall have carried at least thirty-eight States with a total of 410 electoral votes, that Roosevelt has carried five States with an electoral vote of 106, and that Taft has carried perhaps four States, with only fifteen votes in the electoral college.

Only the uncertainty of a few close

States, whose electoral vote in no way can effect the election of Wilson and Marshall, speculation over the popular vote of the three presidential candidates, and the complexion of legislatures that will name United States Senators still hold interest.

The total of the Republican electoral column apparently was fixed with the fifteen votes of Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Vermont. But the footing of the Wilson and Roosevelt columns flickered alternately as late returns gave indications of changing results.

All of the doubtful States except South Dakota gave more or less indications of landing in the list of Wilson electoral votes.

South Dakota's returns showed a general trend toward Roosevelt.

Aside from the overwhelming sweep of the Democratic nominees, the most interesting feature of the result is the capture by Roosevelt of the election machinery in almost all the States of the solid South and in many of those in the North, in which he took either first or second place.

New York and Connecticut are exceptions.

In a large majority of the States he is second. This will put him at the head of the second political party in the nation and give him a power wielded by no leader except the President himself.

The control of the House of Representatives by a majority of 100 or more was clearly established.

That the United States Senate, held by the Republicans by the narrow margin of nine, will also be Democratic after March 4 there is little doubt.

Colorado, Kansas, Oregon and Tennessee have elected Democratic Legislatures and will replace Republicans with Democrats. Colorado will send two new Senators to Washington next year.

Returns from Montana and Nevada at a late hour seemed to favor the election of two additional Democrats to the Senate.

Only the probable loss of West Virginia seemed to stand in the way of success.

Of the nineteen seats held by Republicans which were at stake in Tuesday's election, it became necessary for the Democrats to elect six to secure a majority in the Senate, providing they were able at the same time to retain possession of their own.

In the latest news from Illinois it was found that not only had "Uncle Joe" Cannon been swept to defeat by the Roosevelt vote, but that William B. McKinley, Taft's campaign manager, who made a bitter pre-convention fight on the Colonel, had also been beaten.

The Roosevelt plurality in Illinois dwindled through the day, but final returns gave him the State safely, although Edward F. Dunne, formerly Mayor of Chicago, was elected Governor by the Democrats.

Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona joined the ranks of the States in which women will be given the suffrage.

But Colonel Roosevelt, despite his personal insistence in a woman suffrage plank in the Progressive platform, did not carry a single State in which women were voting.

The vote by which Wilson was elected President is probably less than that received by Bryan when he was defeated in 1908.

Assertions were made in several quarters where an effort had been made to gather preliminary popular vote figures, that Governor Wilson had not polled a majority of the votes cast throughout the country.

Estimates ranged from a small majority of all votes to figures nearly 1,000,000 below a majority.

Surprises in the returns were many. Early in the day New Hampshire, first credited to Taft, went into the Wilson column with a majority of about 1500 for the Democratic candidate.

Returns from Idaho, which came in scattering from early, favored Wilson so strongly as to create the belief that it would give him his electoral vote, but later returns made it the third State to go certainly for President Taft.

The Roosevelt forces, watching the returns hourly as they came from Illinois, suffered a scare, as the down-State Democratic districts reduced Colonel Roosevelt's plurality from Cook county until it promised to disappear.

Late in the day a complete report from Cook county again swelled the Roosevelt majority in the State and seemingly made certain the control of Illinois' twenty-nine votes by the Progressive candidate. Kansas, which had been conceded to Roosevelt by all on the preliminary returns, gradually slipped back until it had become a question whether Wilson or Roosevelt would control its ten votes.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE WINS OUT IN FOUR STATES.

Has Carried Michigan, Oregon, Kansas and Arizona, Says Dr. Anna Shaw.

"Woman's suffrage has carried in four of the five states in which the question was put to a ballot," Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association of America, said at her headquarters in New York City. Women will have the vote in Michigan, Oregon, Arizona and Kansas, making a total of ten states in all.

"This is by far the greatest victory suffrage has ever won. We expected to win in Kansas, Arizona and Oregon, but were not confident of the result in Michigan."

"This victory means that we are now on 'Easy street.' In the next presidential election every political party will have a woman suffrage plank in its platform. Women will hold the balance of power in the West, and every political party will try to gain the favor of the woman voter. A complete victory for woman suffrage is not far away."

When the full scope of his defeat was made plain, President Taft announced his intention of returning to Cincinnati to practice law.

The Missing Brogue.

In his book of reminiscences George Chirgwin, the English comedian, tells a story that illustrates two of his strong points on the stage—his quickness of repartee and his trick of entering into confidential relations with his audience.

He was singing an Irish song in an Irish town once, but he had some difficulty with the brogue.

A typical Pat in the audience stood up and called out indignantly, "Och, ye spalpeen, an' where's yer brogue intirely?"

Chirgwin grinned cheerfully.

"You've got it," he said, and the audience screamed themselves hoarse with delight.

DEVELOPMENT BOARD MONTHLY BULLETIN

This bulletin is based on special reports by reliable authorities in various counties covering nearly every section of the State.

"October was a pleasant month so far as personal comfort goes and at the same time exceedingly favorable for agriculture. There were few warm periods and no damage to drying and curing fruit. The harvests are practically over without injury or loss.

"There were many sunny days and less fog than usual along the coast. Some light frosts occurred in exposed places in the interior. The seasonal rainfall is above the normal."

Sales of large tracts of land for subdivision and colonization, etc., are reported from every quarter of the state.

It is said that 5000 acres in Northern California will be put in rice next season. From the 1700 acres planted this year the yield is estimated at 60,000 sacks. Hindoos are buying rice land in Butte and Sutter counties.

Improvement of transportation facilities is going all over the state, as is public and private construction.

The Dried Fruit Growers of California have organized a league for better marketing of their output. Increased acreage will largely offset the shortage of the raisin crop. Walnut crop of the state is estimated at 11,000 tons; almonds at 3300 tons. Bellefleurs are short of earlier estimates.

Celery crop of Southern California will be about the same as in 1911; the river crop is reported very good. Olive crop in some districts is very good, in others short.

Oranges from Tehama and Tulare districts are well advanced, and of fine quality. Large shipment to Australia made on rush order on the 20th of October. Northern California orange growers expect an early and banner crop.

A new town is to be established on the Oakland-Sacramento line in Montezuma township, Solano County.

Sacramento Valley was awarded special grand prize for general display of products at Dry Farming Congress, Lethbridge, Canada.

Sugar beet growers will have a profitable year. Some lots of beets in Salinas Valley had such high sugar content as to command $7.25 per ton at the factory.

Sixty deep water vessels left San Francisco during September with cargoes valued at $7,670,600.

Dredge and quartz mining and copper production are active.

Oil production of California for September was the largest of any month of the year, 7,642,476 barrels. Shipments same period, 7,400,580 barrels.

CALIFORNIA INVENTORS.

The following patents were just issued to California inventors reported by D. Swift & Co., patent lawyers, Washington, D. C., who will furnish copies of any patent for ten cents apiece to our readers.

William S. Brooks, San Diego, non-reusable bottle; Hans P. Christianson, Oakland, alarm bell, (sold); Richard C. DeWitt, Sutter, traction engine; John F. Hambly, Oleander, envelope moistener; Edwin H. Heney, Stockton, automobile pump, (sold); Axel Johnson, Stockton, combined can-body flanging and double seaming mechanism (sold); William M. Keck, Coalinga, underreamer; Thomas J. Loftus, Oakland, cooling means for gasoline engines, (sold); M. Miyamoto, San Francisco, chimney cleaner.

"The Hub," Langenbach and Guidi proprietors, has added a department for ladies and children and holiday goods and toys to its store. The women of San Bruno are especially invited to inspect the stock. The prices are right and compare favorably with those of any store in San Francisco. Advt.

For Sale—Two lots, nothing down, balance $8 a month; house and 2 lots, $150 down; 3-room house, $400 cash; house and lot $800 cash; houses to rent $4 a month. L. M. Pfleger. Take San Mateo car and get off at San Bruno crossing. Advt.

Utilization of the schoolhouses of the country as employment offices for those out of work has been taken under consideration by the United States Bureau of Education. The proposed plan contemplates the opening of a regular channel of inter-communication between the schools of a State with reference to the unemployed.

An appeal for funds for the relief of the sick and wounded of the Balkan war will be made by the American Red Cross Society. Numerous inquiries prompted the society to announce that all contributions of Americans should be addressed to the Red Cross at Washington or to local Red Cross treasurers and not to individuals or other organizations.

Another coal famine, greater than the shortage that handicapped Chicago last winter, is imminent, according to dealers. Prices of all kinds of coal to the small consumer have raised from 25 to 75 cents a ton. The railroads are blamed for the present situation, coal dealers averring that a car shortage prevents the removal of coal from the mines.

Documents filed in Baltimore in the Orphans' Court disclose the fact that the beneficiaries under the will of the late Ross R. Winans have agreed to give up $500,000 from their legacies to Beatrice and Gaston de Bearn, the infant children of Prince Henri de Bearn, who was Winans' son-in-law. No provision was made for the de Bearn children in the will.

Entertaining the impression that Colonel Roosevelt does not bear any malice toward him and adopts the same attitude of forgiveness as was held by Presidents who have been assassinated, John Schrank, would-be slayer of the Colonel, expects to escape with a light sentence. Schrank has confided these expectations to Bernard H. Gottschalk, who occupies a cell near him.

When a man named Enocs remained under water for four minutes and forty-six seconds in March, 1896, the swimming world was astonished. A Frenchman named Poulyuen tried to break this record in 1907. He remained under water for four minutes and thirty-one seconds and then came up more dead than alive. Today Poulyuen succeeded in breaking the record by remaining under for six minutes and thirty seconds.

An effort is to be made at Newport, R. I., to form an organization of wives of naval officers that will be of benefit to them during the absence of their husbands at sea, or while they are away on other missions. It is the hope of the projectors that the movement will spread to other places where there is a naval station, and in time the organization will become a national one along the lines of a similar organization in England.

Stricter rules for the insurance of ocean-going vessels are proposed by the London underwriters, who have been moved to action by the rise in the cost of ship repairs and building and the generally unsatisfactory year experienced by marine insurance interests. One of the forward steps taken by the underwriters is a provision that all policies on steamers must contain a clause limiting the amount effected on disbursements to 15 per cent of the insured value. The chief interest in this, from the layman's point of view, is that it goes right to the roots of the so-called overinsurance which has figured so largely during the past few years in British wreck inquiries.

PANAMA EXPOSITION NEWS

The Liberty Bell petition reel, which now contains three-quarters of a mile of petitions and which was signed by the children of San Francisco, is on exhibit in the Exposition Building. Petitions are coming in from the public, parochial and private schools of the State of California. When they have been pasted together and placed on the reel it will be sent to Philadelphia for presentation to the Mayor and City Council of that city. It is expected that there will be one million signatures attached to this petition.

Howard C. Holmes, formerly Chief Engineer of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, and one of the best known engineers on this coast, has been appointed Consulting Engineer of Docks and Waterfront Construction for the Exposition. He is the builder of the Key Route wharves and also built the drydocks at Hunters Point, and has been Director of the Mechanics' Institute. As Chief Engineer of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners he directed the construction of wharves and docks along the water front.

Cardinal John Murphy Farley of New York and party of five have arrived in San Francisco, the distinguished churchmen being met at the Western Pacific mole by Archbishop Patrick W. Riordan and a number of other prominent Catholic priests. His visit to California is a pleasure trip.

A murder mystery has developed at Watsonville. Hidden in the bushes along the Pajaro river, a short distance from town, the body of an unknown man has been discovered, which had evidently been dead for more than six months. Eighty dollars in gold were found in a belt around the body. There was nothing by which it could be identified.

The body of General Homer Lea, adviser of the leaders in the recent Chinese rebellion, was laid to rest in Los Angeles Saturday afternoon in Rosedale Cemetery. In keeping with the General's wish, no funeral services were held, not a word being spoken, either at the Ocean Park home or at the cemetery. Only members of the Lea family were present.

Isador Cohen's cigar store, at Sacramento, was the scene of an impromptu wedding ceremony when Frank Neal and Lucinda Alice Hill of Fallon, Churchill county, Nevada, were made man and wife. The youthful couple arrived in Sacramento late in the evening, and their inquiries for some one "to tie the knot" led them to Justice W. A. Anderson, who was in the cigar store.

The new $50,000 grammar school building recently completed in Oroville, was occupied by the classes during the past week. The building is the most modern and costly grammar school building in the Sacramento valley. Twenty-one rooms, comprising the assembly hall, sixteen classrooms, the library and a number of offices, have been provided. Each one of these rooms is well lighted, heated and ventilated.

Powder smoke from the blasts in the Haskell Peak mine, in Plumas county, has been vanishing through a crevice in the bedrock flooring of the tunnel, a thousand feet from the mouth. Miners and local geologists are unable to explain the reason for the strange phenomenon. Every bit of smoke in the mine has vanished through this crevice for two weeks. There is no underground opening for miles around, according to the mountaineers.

The largest single contract for crushed rock ever awarded in California was recently given to the Natomas Consolidated of California by the California Highway Commission. The contract calls for the delivery of 500,000 tons of the rock, to be used in constructing the State highway. The Natomas has three rock-crushing plants, each with a capacity of 1000 tons a day. These plants are located at Oroville, Natoma and Fair Oaks.

Strong resolutions were adopted at the annual meeting of the Northern California Indian Association in San Jose, condemning the proposition of the Government's opening up 5000 acres of Indian land in the Colorado River Indian Reservation to settlement by paying to the Indians $1.25 an acre for the property. The resolutions were mailed to the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Washington, and the association will conduct a strong campaign in an effort to get the decision rescinded.

A report to the Department of Agriculture says that cotton-growing in the Imperial valley, commenced in 1910, has proved successful. The returns in bales of 500 pounds are as follows: 1909-10, 300; 1910-11, 600; 1911-12, 9500. The price in 1911 was 14 cents, and for this year 9½ cents per pound. The product is nearly one bale per acre. At 9½ cents the net profit to the grower on land valued at $100 per acre is $15 per acre per annum, after allowing the farmer wages for his work. The crop for 1912 is estimated at 20,000 bales.

Falling from its scone above the tiny family shrine, a candle that had been lit during the morning devotions set fire to the home of Mrs. Salome Garcia of Santa Barbara, and the aged woman and her invalid son barely escaped with their lives. Mrs. Garcia was offering prayer at the time, and did not see the candle fall. The flames had also surrounded her before she became aware of them. Then she rushed into the next room, where her sick son lay, picked him up and dragged him out of the burning house to safety. The house and everything it contained was destroyed.

With the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in battling support of the Outdoor Art League for the regulation of the unsightly billboard, the forces of the billposters were put to rout at a meeting of the Public Welfare Committee of the Board of Supervisors. Every contention of the public-spirited men and women who have conducted the long fight for the beautifying of the city as part of the preparation for the Universal Exposition of 1915 was won. The drastic regulations demanded by the Chamber of Commerce took the billposters right off their feet. The chief demands were a tax of 1 cent per square foot per month and the limitation of the height to ten feet.
